SIM card and battery

About your SIM card

The Micro SIM is a smaller version of the regular SIM cards commonly used and that frequently are referred to merely as SIM cards.

When you subscribe to your network operator, you receive a SIM (Subscriber Identity Module) card containing your registration information, PIN code, etc.

Like a credit card, it should be kept secure and handled carefully. Do not bend, scratch or expose it to moisture. Avoid static electricity.

To avoid corrupting your SIM card's memory, always turn off your phone before removing or inserting your SIM card.

About your battery

Your phone uses a Li-Ion battery. Make sure to use an authorized battery and Micro USB charger adaptor only. For more details, please inquire at your nearest AT&T Authorized Retailer.

ⓘ Note Unlike other forms of battery technology, you can recharge a Li-Ion battery while some charge remains without reducing your phone's autonomy due to the "battery memory effect" inherent in those technologies.

Installing/Removing SIM card and battery

1. To remove the battery cover, locate notch at top right corner, pull it towards you as shown to the right.

2. Insert the SIM card into the slot. The gold contacts of the SIM card should face down.

3. Slide the connector of the battery into the notch located at the top of the unit. Insert (1) and press the lower side of the battery until you hear a click (2). Make sure you align the gold contacts on the battery end with the contacts on the phone. If the contacts on the battery are not properly aligned, the phone and the battery could be damaged.

Troubleshooting checklist

When audio quality is poor:
End the call and try again.

When the other party cannot hear you speaking:
Your phone may be set to MUTE. Disable the MUTE function. Make sure your hand is not covering the microphone.

When battery lifetime is shorter than usual:
This may happen when you are in an area with low signal strength. Turn off your phone when it is not in use. Charge the battery when battery energy is exhausted.

When your mobile phone does not turn on:
Make sure your battery is charged. Check to see if your phone works while recharging the battery.

When you are unable to make a call:
Your phone may be set to "fixed dial." You must disable the "fixed dial" function.

When you are unable to receive a call

Make sure to check the network service. Or check whether your phone is set to "Call forwarding". If call forwarding is enabled, you must disable the "Call forwarding" function.

When you are unable to charge the battery:

This may be the result of one of the following cases.

1. Your charger may be out of order. Contact your nearest dealer.

When you are unable to input data into your Address Book:

Your Address Book memory may be full. Try deleting some entries from your Address Book.

When you are unable to select a certain function:

You may not have subscribed to that function, or your network service provider may be in an area where such service cannot be provided. Contact your local service provider.

📖 Safety information

The following list shows how to maintain your mobile phone, together with precautions to take.

- Keep your mobile phone and its accessories out of the reach of children and pets.
- Maintain your mobile phone in dry conditions and keep it within normal operating temperatures. Temperatures higher than 131°F (55°C) or lower than -4°F (-20°C) may damage your phone.
- Do not try to dry your phone in a microwave oven. Sparks can occur and cause an explosion or fire.

- Do not use or store your mobile phone in dusty, dirty areas.

- Do not attempt to disassemble your mobile phone.

- Do not drop or cause severe impact to your mobile phone.

- Do not use chemical products, cleaning solvents or detergents to clean your mobile phone.

- If your mobile phone does not work properly, contact your dealer immediately.

- Use only authorized batteries, battery chargers and accessories. Any malfunction or damage caused by the use of unauthorized batteries, battery chargers and accessories will void the limited product warranty.

- Ensure that the battery and battery charger do not come in contact with conductive objects.

- For optimal phone performance, use cases and accessories that do not contain magnets in close proximity.

Safety precautions

Using a mobile phone while driving may be prohibited.
Please check local laws and regulations with regard to the prohibition of mobile phone use while driving, and comply with any applicable laws or regulations.

Use of your phone while you are driving may disturb your concentration and so cause an accident. Always switch your phone off to drive safely.

If you need to use your phone in an emergency, either use a hands free device built into your car or pull over in a safe place first.

Switch off in restricted areas

Always switch your phone off in areas where mobile phone use is restricted.

Switch off in explosive or dangerous areas

Always switch your phone off in areas with explosive or dangerous materials (such as fuels, fuel stations or areas containing chemical goods) and obey any instructions or signals. Do not remove your mobile phone's battery in such areas.

Switch off in aircraft

Always switch your phone off or select Flight Mode (Tap Menu > Settings > Sound Profiles > Flight Mode) when you are in an aircraft.

The electromagnetic waves emitted by your phone may affect the electronic navigation equipment in the aircraft.

Switch off in hospitals and near medical equipment

Always switch your phone off in hospitals, and obey the regulations or rules of the hospital.

Switch your phone off when using medical equipment for private purposes, if possible. Always consult with the medical equipment's manufacturer or an expert regarding phone use near the medical equipment.

Installing a hands free device in your vehicle

Install vehicle hands free devices away from the steering wheel and airbag expansion area, otherwise injury may result.

Mobile phones and other electronic devices

Mobile phones emit electromagnetic waves that may affect nearby electronic devices. When it is switched on, do not place your phone close to delicate electronic equipment.

🚫 About battery usage

Your phone is powered by a Lithium Ion (Li-Ion) battery. This means that, unlike other forms of battery technology, you can recharge your battery while some charge remains without reducing your phone's autonomy due to the "battery memory effect" inherent in those technologies.

- Use an authorized battery and charger only.

- Do not use a damaged battery or charger.

- Do not disassemble, open, crush, bend, deform, puncture or shred.

- Do not modify or remanufacture, attempt to insert foreign objects into the battery, immerse or expose to water or other liquids, expose to fire, explosion or other hazard.

- Do not put your battery into contact with conductive objects.

- Dispose of and recycle used batteries in accordance with local regulations. Do not dispose of batteries by burning; they may explode.

- Only use the battery for the device for which it is specified.

- Only use the battery with a charging device that has been qualified with the device per this standard. Use of an unqualified battery or charger may present a risk of fire, explosion, leakage, or other hazard.

- Do not short circuit a battery or allow metallic conductive objects to contact battery terminals.

- Replace the battery only with another battery that has been qualified with the device per this standard, IEEE-Std-1725-2006.

- Use of an unqualified battery may present a risk of fire, explosion, leakage or other hazard.

- Promptly dispose of used batteries in accordance with local regulations.

- Battery usage by children should be supervised.

- Avoid dropping the phone or battery. If the phone or battery is dropped, especially on a hard surface, and the user suspects damage, take it to a service center for inspection.
- Use your battery for the specified purpose only.
- The closer you are to your network's base station, the longer your phone usage time because less battery power is consumed for the connection.
- The battery recharging time varies depending on the remaining battery capacity and the battery and charger type you use.
- Battery life inevitably shortens over time.
- Since overcharging may shorten battery life, remove the phone from its charger once it is fully charged. Unplug the charger once charging is complete. Leaving the battery in hot or cold places, especially inside a car in summer or winter, may reduce the capacity and life of the battery. Always keep the battery within normal temperatures.
- To prevent injury or burns, ensure that no metal objects come into contact with the + and – terminals of the battery.

FCC Hearing-Aid Compatibility (HAC) Regulations for Wireless Devices

On July 10, 2003, the U.S. Federal Communications Commission (FCC) Report and Order in WT Docket 01-309 modified the exception of wireless phones under the Hearing Aid Compatibility Act of 1988 (HAC Act) to require digital wireless phones be compatible with hearing-aids.

The intent of the HAC Act is to ensure reasonable access to telecommunications services for persons with hearing disabilities.

While some wireless phones are used near some hearing devices (hearing aids and cochlear implants), users may detect a buzzing, humming, or whining noise. Some hearing devices are more immune than others to this interference noise, and phones also vary in the amount of interference they generate.

The wireless telephone industry has developed a rating system for wireless phones, to assist hearing device users find phones that may be compatible with their hearing devices. Not all phones have been rated. Phones that are rated have the rating on their box or a label located on the box.

The ratings are not guarantees. Results will vary depending on the user's hearing device and hearing loss. If your hearing device happens to be vulnerable to interference, you may not be able to use a rated phone successfully. Trying out the phone with your hearing device is the best way to evaluate it for your personal needs.

- M-Ratings: Phones rated M3 or M4 meet FCC requirements and are likely to generate less interference to hearing devices than phones that are not labeled. M4 is the better/higher of the two ratings.
- T-Ratings: Phones rated T3 or T4 meet FCC requirements and are likely to generate less interference to hearing devices than phones that are not labeled. T4 is the better/higher of the two ratings.

THIS PHONE HAS A HAC RATING OF M3/T3.

This phone has been tested and rated for use with hearing aids for some of the wireless technologies that it uses. However, there may be some newer wireless technologies used in this phone that have not been tested yet for use with hearing aids. It is important to try the different features of this phone thoroughly and in different locations, using your hearing aid or cochlear implant, to determine if you hear any interfering noise. Consult your service provider about its return and exchange policies and for information on hearing aid compatibility.

Hearing devices may also be rated. Your hearing device manufacturer or hearing health professional may help you find this rating. Higher ratings mean that the hearing device is relatively immune to interference noise. The hearing aid and wireless phone rating values are then added together. A sum of 5 is considered acceptable for normal use. A sum of 6 is considered for best use.

M3 + M2 = 5   T3 + T2 = 5

In the above example, if a hearing aid meets the M2 level rating and the wireless phone meets the M3 level rating, the sum of the two values equal M5. This is synonymous for T ratings. This should provide the hearing aid user with "normal usage" while using their hearing aid with the particular wireless phone. "Normal usage" in this context is defined as a signal quality that is acceptable for normal operation.

The M mark is intended to be synonymous with the U mark. The T mark is intended to be synonymous with the UT mark. The M and T marks are recommended by the Alliance for Telecommunications Industries Solutions (ATIS). The U and UT marks are referenced in Section 20.19 of the FCC Rules. The HAC rating and measurement procedure are described in the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) C63.19 standard.

To ensure that the Hearing Aid Compatibility rating for your phone is maintained, secondary transmitters such as Bluetooth and WLAN components must be disabled during a call. See page 146 for instructions to disable these components.

FCC Regulatory Compliance

FCC Regulatory Compliance

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

Your mobile device is a low power radio transmitter and receiver. When it is ON, it receives and also sends out radio frequency (RF) signals. In August 1996, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) adopted RF exposure guidelines with safety levels for mobile devices. Those guidelines are consistent with safety standards previously set by both U.S. and international standards bodies: American National Standard Institute (ANSI), National Council of Radiation Protection and Measurements (NCRP), and International Commission on Non-Ionizing Radiation Protection (ICNRP). Those standards were based on comprehensive and periodic evaluations of the relevant scientific literature. The design of your phone complies with the FCC guidelines.

Statement according to FCC part 15.105

Note: This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to Part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.

Statement according to FCC part 15.21

Modifications not expressly approved by this company could void the user's authority to operate the equipment.

RF exposure FCC

For body worn operation, to maintain compliance with FCC RF exposure guidelines, use only accessories that contain no metallic components and provide a separation distance of 15 mm (0.59 inches) to the body. Use of other accessories may violate FCC RF exposure guidelines and should be avoided.

This device and its antenna must not be co-located or operating in conjunction with any other antenna or transmitter.

Health and Safety Information FCC

This EUT has been shown to be capable of compliance for localized specific absorption rate (SAR) for uncontrolled environment/general population exposure limits specified in ANSI/IEEE Std. C95.1-1992 and had been tested in accordance with the measurement procedures specified in KDBs and IEEE Std. 1528-2003 Ministry of Health (Canada), Safety Code 6. The standards include a substantial safety margin designed to assure the safety of all persons, regardless of age and health. The exposure standard for wireless mobile phones employs a unit of measurement known as the Specific Absorption Rate, or SAR. The SAR limit set by the FCC is 1.6W/kg *. The highest reported SAR for head and body-worn accessory are 0.38 W/kg and 0.40 W/kg.

* In the U.S. and Canada, the SAR limit for mobile phones used by the public is 1.6 watts/kg (W/kg) averaged over one gram of tissue. The standard incorporates a substantial margin of safety to give additional protection for the public and to account for any variations in.

This device contains 1800 MHz GSM functions that are not operational in U.S. Territories; this filing is applicable only for 850 MHz GSM and 1900 MHz PCS operations.
